The best ads are contextual, adapting to the content environment but also keeping in mind what's important to your audience right now. Here are some ways you can adjust your creative elements to make them more relevant to what's happening in the world.

Best Practices

Creative

Show your target audience before and after images of home improvement projects. Use multiple images or videos to demonstrate the steps of an easy DIY activity.

Copy

Use language like DIY, improve or upgrade when describing home projects. If your brand offers sales or design consultation, make sure to highlight that in your copy.

URL

Drive consumers to your sale's landing page to see more sale items. Take audiences to your brand's blog to show your signature DIY projects and organizations hacks.
